Surmounting a Difficult.

Alice, who was five years old, was asked to run errands for her mother. She went very willingly if she could pronounce the name of the article wanted, but she dreaded the laughter which greeted her attempts to pronounce certain words. "Vinegar" was one of the hardest for her. She never would go for it if she could help it, but one morning her mother found it absolutely necessary to send her. On entering the store she handed the jug to the clerk and said, "Smell the jug give me a quart"—Chicago Chronicle.
